Clean TeQ Signs Significant Membrane Water Treatment Plant Contract

Melbourne, 30 November 2007

Clean TeQ Holdings Limited (ASX; CLQ) is pleased to announce that it has signed a contract for the supply of a Membrane Water Treatment Plant with a Queensland based company. This contract involves the provision of design and supply of the Membrane Water Treatment Plant for the conversion of river water to industrial water. The completed plant is required to be delivered by May 2008 and will generate approximately $1.3 million of revenue in the current financial year. The project involves the supply of a water treatment plant using submerged ultrafiltration membranes.

'This Water Treatment Plant contract is the first supply of these membranes to the Australian market and is an exciting development for the company, which positions us well for future water purification contracts in a strongly growing market. This leading edge technology has enormous possibilities in both industrial and potable water applications,' said Greg Toll, Chief Executive Officer of Clean TeQ.

This contract follows the recent Western Australian Water Awards in which the Company won the Small Organisation, Community or Individual Project award for water recycling. Clean TeQ designed, built and operated a Clean-iX® water recycling pilot plant at the Woodman Point wastewater treatment facility. Results of the project indicate that Clean-iX® has the potential to greatly assist in achieving Western Australia's target of recycling 20 per cent of all wastewater by 2012.
