Clean TeQ Secures Largest Odour Control Contract In Its History

Clean TeQ Holdings Limited (ASX; CLQ), an Australian technology company involved in air and water purification and resource recovery, today announced that the Company has secured the largest odour control contract in its history. The Company has been engaged by the W2W Alliance to supply, design, install and commission six biological air filters at the Beenyup Waste Water Treatment Plant in Western Australia.

“Revenue generated by this contract will be in excess of $5 million. This is a milestone in the history of the Company as this project is greater than any other air project that the Company has undertaken to date and builds on other recent successes for our Air Division,” said Greg Toll, Clean TeQ’s Chief Executive Officer.

“Successfully winning and delivering odour control and elimination contracts of this size will pave the way for the Company to compete for larger contracts both nationally and internationally in the future,” said Greg Toll.
