Clean TeQ Awarded Climate Ready Grant

The Directors of Clean TeQ Holdings Limited (ASX; CLQ), an Australian technology company involved in air and water purification and resource recovery, are pleased to announce that the Company has been awarded a Climate Ready Grant for the development of an innovative pre-treatment process to achieve high water recovery and energy efficiency for reverse osmosis processes.

The Australian Government through the Department of Innovation, Industry, Science and Research and AusIndustry will offer Clean TeQ 50% of eligible expenditure capped at approximately $1m for its Clean-iX® and Reverse Osmosis technology project.

"This project aims to develop, investigate and test the operational performance of the Clean-iX® technology as a pre-treatment for reverse osmosis. This will make reverse osmosis processes more efficient and is an important technical innovation given the increasing need for water treatment in response to climate change impacts," said Greg Toll, Clean TeQ's Chief Executive Officer.

"Clean TeQ has developed a well-proven platform technology, Clean-iX®, for the separation and purification of materials. This project will apply the Clean-iX® process for the first time, in a new way, to remove the chemical components in the feedwater which constrain conventional reverse osmosis operation, resulting in improved water recovery, improved energy efficiency, and less waste production," said Greg Toll.
